ABSTRACT:

There are two types of students viz., attentive and inattentive. An attentive student is very studious and reads round the clock. Such a student reads and keeps the books scattered around him in disorder. He can readily trace any desired book from the heap of books. Now, if a well-wisher voluntarily intends to help the scholar thus to keep his books in order, then the scholar restrains him lest he does not get the desired book in need. The inattentive student reads less but keeps book well in order. He reads if he likes. He reads not if he likes not. Rather such an inattentive student is always busy with the duster to make the books free from dust and showcased. Thus disorderliness of books confirm read and orderliness signifies unread. Here lies the triumph of disorder over order.

INTRODUCTION

Creative writing is based more on manifestation rather than on expression. It does not inform rather reveals, so it bears no reference. The best creative writing is critical, and the best critical writing is creative. The present article is the outcome of creative writing meant for lay readers. As such free style is the methodology adopted so that the pleasure of reading can be enjoyed by the common mass. As you know well that, Francis Bacon (1561-1626), the immortal writer, wrote many essays, and notably "Of Love", "Of Friendship", "Of Ambition", "Of Studies", etc. The myriad-minded genius rightly pointed out that all the words of the dictionary can be the themes of essays one can write. But little has been done, in this regard since his death, in order to finish his unfinished monumental works. In fact Bacon's way of presentation and his unique style kindled imagination and inspired me to write essays, in the light of creative writing, thus to get relief through Catharsis.

It is to destroy the order or regular arrangement of. To throw into disorder means disarrange. It is to derange the physical or mental health of.

Disorder is omnipresent. Man faces it. Man has to face it. Man is bound to face it. None can escape it. All is its prey. Thus man willy-nilly faces it, from cradle to grave, in different forms and features having different degree and dimension as well.

The papers and financial affairs were in completely disorder. Everyone began shouting at once and the meeting broke up in disorder. The capital is calm, but continuing disorder has been reported elsewhere. People of the war-stricken country are suffering from severe mental disorders. A rare disorder of the liver caused premature death of the patient. The hooligans left the house in a state of disorder. The enemy retreated in disorder. The army did its best to put down the disorder in the town. Digestive disorders cause ill health. A disorder in legal proceedings causes life-time sufferings. A health-conscious person never ignores a mild stomach disorder.

Disordered implies suffering from lack of order or control. A disordered existence puzzles a novice. Disordered version of events creates confusion. Disordered means deranged. A disordered state of mind seldom creates. Disordered is put out of order. It means jumbled. It is not normal in health or function. It means ill. Disordered implies suffering from a physical or mental disorder.

Disorderly is not orderly. It is unsystematic. It causes a disturbance. It is unruly. It is riotous. It means untidy. It means confused. It is irregular. As per law it is contrary to public order or morality. It implies law violating public peace, safety or order. Disorderly conduct, as per law, is any of various petty misdemeanors, generally including nuisances, breaches of the peace, offensive or immoral conduct in public, etc.

Disorderly means out of order. It is a lawless manner. It both defies and restraints decency. None relies a disorderly person. Medically it is a usual minor ailment or disease. It is to throw into confusion. It is to disarrange. Further, from medical point of view it is to put out of good health. It implies upset.

Disorder, brawl, disturbance and uproar are synonymous. They mean disruptions or interruptions of a peaceful situation. Disorder refers to unrest within a city or state, and to any scene in which there is confusion or fighting among individuals or groups. For example: The police went to the scene of the disorder. A brawl is a noisy, unseemly quarrel, usually in a public place. For example: A tavern brawl is an enjoyable week end event. A disturbance refers to an instance of disorder that inconveniences many people. For example: Hecklers at the inauguration created a disturbance. Uproar refers to tumult and clamor. For example: The announcement of victory caused uproar in the waiting crowd.

There is order. There is disorder. Thus, in the light of these two mundane events, the whole happenings of this creation can broadly be classified into four different categories.

The first category is disorderly ordered. It means the order of the event has been replaced by disorder. As such there is no discipline. There is essence of orderliness. But it cannot take place freely or normally. When it will happen it will definitely maintain its order. But its time of occurrence is quite uncertain hence it is called disordered.

The second type is orderly disordered. Here the disorder is perfect. The disorder takes place with guarantee or without any fail but in equal intervals.

The third category is orderly ordered. It is the best of all events of this creation. Such an event is ideal and happens sequentially. Ideal is always unattainable. This is purely theoretical concept. It is a standard. And deviation of the event is calculated considering this event as standard.

The fourth category is disorderly disordered. Double uncertainties have rendered such an event into very complex and critical as well to its highest level coupled with highest degree. Such an event is beyond control and highly unreliable and highly unpredictable too in nature.

Nature though disorder is natural. Man decorates which is artificial. Nature is natural. Man rearranges, nature again rearranges through storm, earthquake, flood, tsunami, etc. Man diverts and makes dams which are quashed by nature by its violent force. In such events man is simply a helpless child only to gaze with awful pale eyes. .

Health disorder is bad. Mental disorder is very bad. Relationship disorder is very very bad. Ill health can be recovered soon. Recovery of mental health takes some time. But recovery of good relation is very difficult. Relation is based on belief. Belief and character are synonymous. If any one of the two is lost, all is lost; for none believes a liar. Then life faces deepest disastrous disorder.

Someone likes order. Someone likes disorder. Order paves to build prosperous life positively. Disorder leads life towards negativity thereby destruction. A corrupted person waits for disorderly moments to gain profit through illegal deeds during that crisis period. He takes the opportunity created by disorder. Such a person likes to disturb and likes to be disturbed as well. To him disorder is like opium. He lives with disorder. He dreams with disorder. Even he dies with disorder. He cannot think anything without disorder. He is so cursed. Common people like peace. But they are quite uncommon in the eye of such an unruly disordered person.
